WorkingWell Regional Occupational Health can ensure that employers can have a safe, healthy and productive work environment for all employees. WorkingWell offers an extensive drug screen program to meet your company's needs. We offer professional screenings that treat your workforce like professionals. Whether your company would like to implement a drug screen program to your workforce or to assist in making sure you are in compliance with Federal DOT (Department of Transportation) regulations, WorkingWell can help with this process.

We are dedicated in running a program that guarantees that companies, large or small, are kept in compliance with DOT, avoiding heavy fines for non-compliance. This also takes the burden off the shoulders of the employer reducing perceived notions that there are any biases associated with employers selecting participants.
